TWO SCHOONERS DASH ASHORE IN STORM

11 JURORS IN RUEF CASE

PUBLIC AGAIN TAKES INTEREST IN CASE

It is Expected That the Taking of Testimony Will Begin Next Monday, if no
Other Delays Intervene.

(Special to The Tribune.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—The eleventh juror has been secured in the Ruef trolley case and once more the trial is receiving interest from the spectators, who are receiving some hope that the taking of evidence may possibly begin next Monday.

Judge Lawlor decided against Special Prosecutor Henry in the matter of the challenge interposed against Charles H. Harrington and the attorney was forced to use a peremptory challenge to get rid of the juror, who seemed so unwelcome to him. George H. Cross, manager of the Grand Central Hotel, who was passed yesterday, was the second man sworn, with Harrington, and proved satisfactory to both sides. With the addition of Cross there are now eleven men in the box, but the prosecution has one challenge and the defense several yet to exercise and it is probable that the complete jury will not be secured for several days yet.

ADAMS MARSH LAND VALUED AT $51,260 BY W. J. LAYMANCE FOR CITY

"I value that property at $51,260."
This was the statement, this morning, of William J. Lay-mance, of the Laymance Realty Company, in the condemnation proceedings in Judge Harris' Court against Edson F.
Adams and John Charles Adams, on the part of the city to secure possession of property at Twelfth and Fallon streets for a public park.

Thus far, five real estate men have valued the property in question, and the figures of Mr. Laymance are the lowest received.

Three of these gentlemen testified for the defendants, and two of them—J. S. Naismith and J. T. Bell—gave an average value to the property in dispute bounded by Twelfth, Fallon, the center line of Tenth street and the Peralta Patent line of $113,553.

The third expert for the defendants, George Roeth, did not value all the property. He confined himself to a tract extending 540 7-10 feet on Twelfth street east to Fallon street with a depth of 100 feet and his valuation of that small section alone was from $110,000 to $125,000.

The two experts for the city have estimated the value of the whole tract at an average of $54,205, something more than the city has offered for the property, Frank J. Woodward's estimate being $57,150 and that of W. J. Laymance as set forth above, $51,260.

It will appear, therefore, that the defendants' appraisers declare that the property is worth more than twice what the

SCENE AT THE TRIAL OF MRS. MARTIN TODAY

MRS. ISABELLA J. MARTIN, listening to "Baby" John's testimony.

'BABY JOHN' RECOUNTS AN ATTEMPT TO POISON AN ENTIRE COMMUNITY

The trial of Mrs. Isabella J. Martin yesterday by Attorney A. L. Frick, was on the charge of dynamiting the home of Superior Judge Ogden last March. A searching examination in reference to putting poison into a sugar barrel at Hansen's grocery store in Wauverville for the purpose of poisoning District Attorney Hall of Trinity county and his opponent, Charles J. Test, both of whom were running for office. Glibbins was also alleged to be slated for poisoning.

Positive About Poison

"Baby" John was rather mixed in reference to the year in which the candidates ran for office, but was positive that Mrs. Martin had purchased sugar of lead for the specific purpose of putting the deadly drug in the sugar barrel of Hansen's store so that her alleged enemies might partake of it with dire results to themselves.

R. D. HUME ON LOST VESSEL

CANNERY MAN AND PARTY ARE WRECKED

Vessels Driven on Beach on Oregon Coast During High
Wind and Many Lives May Be Lost.

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Oct. 21.—R. D. Hume, the cannery man, and party and two schooners are reported wrecked off Gold Beach in the Curry county coast. Whether any lives have been lost cannot be ascertained, all telephone communication to the south being shut off. The last wire went down after a brief message of the disaster reached here last night.

The schooners Enterprise and Osprey left here for Rogue river Sunday morning, the Enterprise being in tow of the Osprey, a power schooner, because there was only one captain for the two vessels.

A heavy storm was encountered yesterday morning and the vessels were driven ashore by the gale. The Enterprise is said to be a total loss. The Osprey may be saved.

Among those aboard the Osprey, besides the regular crew, were R. D. Hume, a man named Rich and a traveling man in the employ of the air banks-Morse Company.

Blake Sentence Is Once More Continued

(Special to The Tribune.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Owing to the absence from the city of Attorney Carl Lidsky, who is busy with a case in Santa Cruz county, Attorney Schuster, representing E. A. S. Blake who was convicted of an alleged attempt to bribe John M. Kelly, a salesman in the Ruef case, this morning moved for a continuance until Monday next for sentence.

The same motion was made by the attorney last Saturday, but Judge Dunne at that time set the case down for tomorrow for today, saying that he desired to dispose of it quickly. There being no objection, however, on the part of Assistant District Attorney Louis Farnsworth, the matter was allowed to go over until the date asked. The maximum sentence for the crime of which Blake was declared guilty is five years in the penitentiary.

FIGHT IN ROOMS OF THE EXCHANGE

C. A. Sinclair Is Ejected and Arrests of Two Are Sequel.

As the result of a difference of opinion regarding the style of proposed alterations on East Twelfth street, an argument was started in the rooms of the Merchants' Exchange last night which was followed by the arrest of C. A. Sinclair, a clerk of the exchange, on a charge of battery and the arrest of two other men on a charge of disturbing the peace.

C. A. Sinclair had been ejected from the rooms by the use of violent language directed against Wilber Walker, secretary of the exchange. Sinclair at once called a policeman and had Carl taken to jail. He followed the arrested man to police headquarters and was then locked up himself on the disturbing the peace charge.

Carl was immediately released on $50 bail. Sinclair was held in jail for two hours and was then released on his own recognizance by Justice of the Peace Geary. Owing to the fact that each man refused to prosecute the other in the police court this morning, the cases were dismissed by Police Judge Samuels.

EDITOR TRIBUNE: A crippled man and a crippled woman whom the Associated Charities of Oakland are trying to help, needed a stove, a washstand and a roller chair. You very kindly inserted a little article making this request to the public and the public has responded. We have several stoves at our command and washstands. As yet no roller chair has been sent us. Perhaps that will come later, or perhaps you will insert in the near future, a little "ad" that will bring it, be it as you deem best. We want to thank you for your kindness and interest and want you to know that you have been instrumental in helping out a poor man who has been trying so hard to be independent and who has so little to be thankful for. FUGITIVE FROM TURKEY IN U. S.

Prince Shaban, With Price of $35,000 on Head, Now Residing in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The Inter Ocean today says:
Prince Shaban Bey Gotscha, one time Turkish revolutionary leader, who fled from the dominion of the Sultan after a price of $35,000 had been placed on his head, is living in Chicago. With a small retinue of servants he has remained in seclusion for several months.

Prince Shaban is heir to the throne of Albania, one of the provinces of Eastern Turkey. Should the present Balkan situation result in freedom from Turkey for Albania, Shaban will return to his native land and claim his throne.

The revolutionary leader gathered an army about him, numbering 12,000 men, and attempted to overthrow the Sultan in 1904. His forces were defeated at Jakova, September 22, 1904, and the Prince was twice wounded. He fled to London and later came to America, believing himself safer here from the spies of the Sultan.

ENCOURAGEMENT OF ROADS ASKED

There Are 3,300,000 Persons in the United States Without Representation.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—There are approximately 3,300,000 citizens of the United States investors in bonds and stocks of railway companies, employees of railroads and persons engaged in the manufacture and sale of railway supplies whose vital interests in the purchase of liberty and happiness do not seem to have been the concern of any one.

With these words E. W. McKenna, second vice-president of the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, introduced an address before the members of the Western Railway Club at the Auditorium last night.

Choosing as the title of his speech "A Constituency Without Representation," McKenna made a plea for better treatment of the transportation interests by the public and by legislation. He argued that railroads should be permitted to increase their rates in order to bring their facilities up to a point of perfection demanded by the growing business of the country and to prevent eventual bankruptcy.

"Political leaders, desirous of obtaining power and prestige," he said, "have instilled the erroneous idea that transportation interests of the country had in all the past placed unjust charges upon them for their transportation.

"If a cure for present conditions is not found, railways for their own survival must ask labor to share in the enforced economies which are necessary for their existence."

BRAVE TEACHER SAVES CHILDREN

Rushes Pupils Away From Fierce Blaze In Order—Wild Animals in Same Haven.

BAY CITY, Mich., Oct. 11.—A special to the Tribune from Alpena, Mich., says:
Among the most thrilling experiences of the survivors of the Presque Isle country forest fire was that of Miss Grace Barber, a school teacher 19 years of age, whose school in Kankow township was in session when the flames swept down upon the building Thursday. A terrified farmer had rushed into the building to give the alarm just as the rear of the schoolhouse caught fire. The teacher marshaled her pupils in a double row, the largest at the head and ordered them to remain in close order and not to break the line. She then directed the leaders to head for a plowed field near by and the column started on a run, Miss Barber bringing up the rear to prevent straggling.

Burning embers fell thick, but the teacher kept the children close together and every ember was extinguished the instant it fell upon any child's clothing. The fire burned steadily for some time, as the blaze in the tops of the trees ate its way down. Soon animals began to appear upon the edge of the field and during the night two bears made their appearance. A fox came skimming in, as also did a rabbit, rabbits, partridges and other game. But the animals kept well away from the children, not even the bears offering hostile demonstrations. Miss Barber kept her charges in the field all Thursday night and in the morning sent them home in groups, piloting the smaller ones herself.

NOTORIOUS MAN IS OUT FOR PARLIAMENT

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Winnipeg says:
Honors Joseph Jaxon, who was prominent in the United States last year because of his correspondence with President Roosevelt upon the Daywood-Moyer-Pottibone "undesirable citizen" question, has caused much comment in the country west of Winnipeg by appearing as a candidate for the Ontario Parliament. He came to the Northwest several months ago and has been put forward as the candidate of an independent element that has arisen among the farmers and workmen and seems to have strength.

Jaxon's candidacy probably will bring up the question whether he is a Canadian or belongs under the United States flag by birth. He claimed, when living in Chicago, to have been born in Jaxon's buffalo camp between Montana and the Northwest Territory, the location of the camp to the International boundary line being doubtful. His father was a hunter and trader and his mother was an accomplished woman, who had been educated in England.

A Scientist Doubts the Usefulness of Aerial Navigation.

It is somewhat surprising, in view of the popular and all but universal belief that practical aerial navigation will be achieved—is, indeed, all but achieved now—and that it will be a boon to mankind comparable with the railway, or at least with steam navigation, to find in dissent such an eminent scientist as Professor Simon Newcomb, the famous astronomer. He has embodied his views in an article entitled, "The Problem of Aerial Navigation," which was published in the Nineteenth Century for September.

Professor Newcomb's pessimism is not so much as to the perfection of airships and flying devices to a point far beyond their present status, but relates to the value of such perfection. He is definitely of the opinion that popular expectation is to be disappointed.

The professor points out that railways already reach, or soon will reach, every habitable quarter of the earth. He says the poles and the very high mountains are places which might be reached by balloons more readily than by any other means of transportation; but he adds: "The more carefully we analyze these possible advantages, the more we shall find them to diminish in importance."

Some of the professor's observations irresistibly remind one of the quaint reasons advanced by our forefathers why the railway train could never come into general use. For instance: "Is it not evident, on careful consideration, that the ground affords a much better base than the air ever can? Resting upon it we feel safe and know where we are. In the air we are carried about by every wind that blows. Any use that we can make of the air for the purpose of transportation, even when our machinery attains ideal perfection, will be uncertain, dangerous, expensive and inefficient." "Exceptional cases there may be where the air-ship will serve a purpose, but they are few and unimportant."

Even as engines of destruction, to carry explosives in the air and drop them upon the enemy, Professor Newcomb is not impressed with them. England appears to have an abnormal fear of vertical bombardment from the German dirigibles. Its fear is akin to that which has been the main obstacle to tunneling the channel—that a tunnel would some day let the French swarm through and overrun the land. Professor Newcomb reassures Englishmen as to the later fear, regarding the war balloon as an impossibility so far as its effectiveness is concerned. But he admits that the poles may be first reached by balloons.

Of course there is nobody to controvert the views of this scientist, because as a matter of fact the balloon itself has not disproven any of his contentions. All that may be said up at the present time is conjecture and prophecy; but there are fewer doubters now as to what science and invention may do than there used to be. Mankind has seen miracle after miracle achieved in the face of continued prediction that they were impossible, and is well prepared for practical navigation of the air. Perhaps, as the professor holds, it will not see all that it is prepared for—for instance, the craft of the air flying commercially with craft on the water, or with the railway, or even the still developing automobile; but the belief that it will see an immense advance beyond the present stage is so generally accepted that such doubts as those expressed by this well-recognized scientist will have scant attention.

New York, Ohio and Indiana.

Dispatches are to the effect that the National Republican Committee is to concentrate its efforts in the States of New York, Ohio and Indiana. In the same connection advices are to the effect that there is no doubt of these States going Republican. There is nothing conceivable that could change an outcome that has been foregone ever since the nominees entered the field.

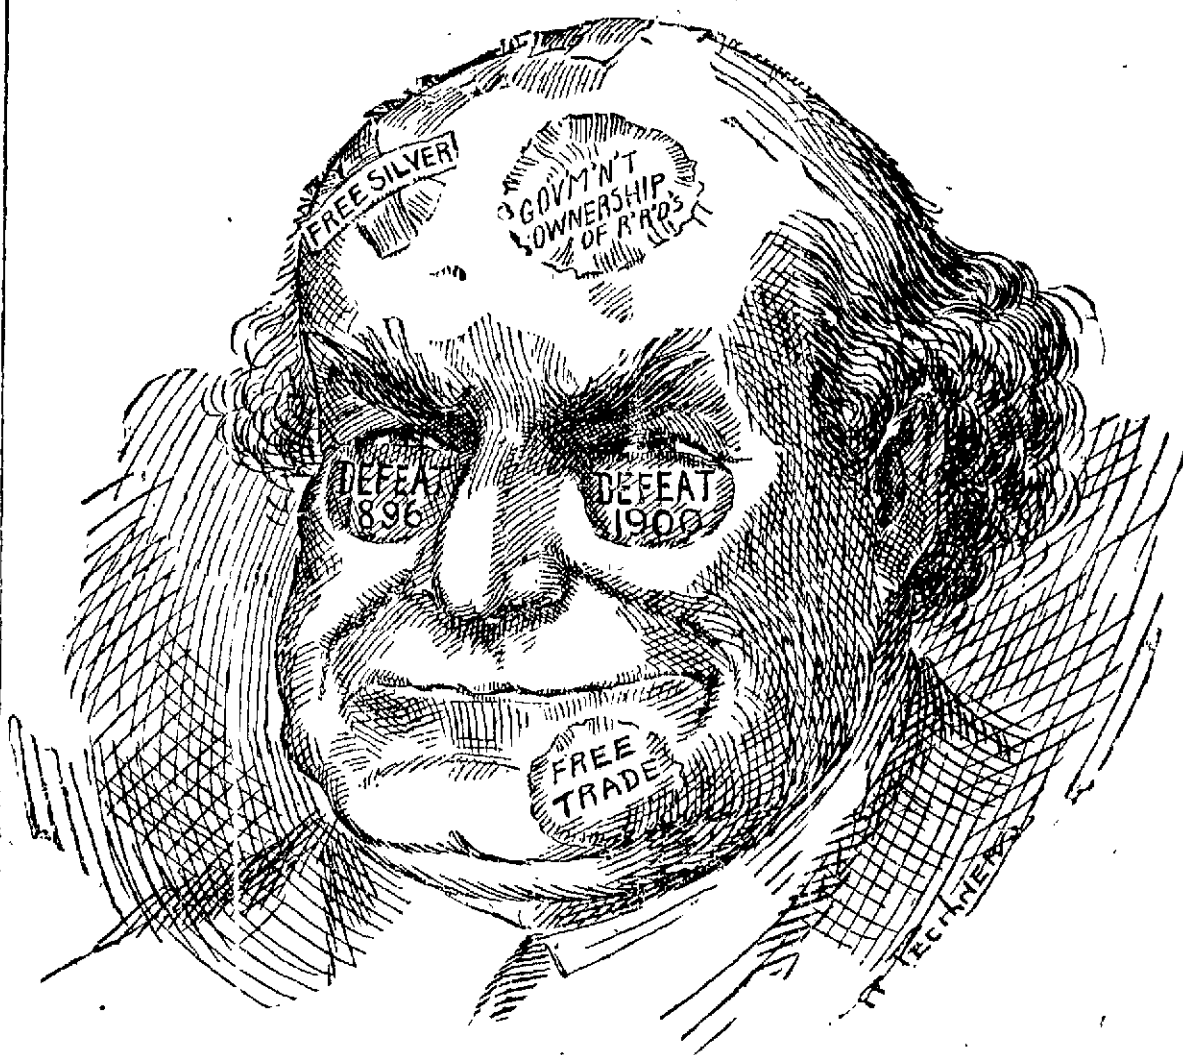

There may be a slightly different status in New York as to the State ticket, owing to the opposition of the sporting element to the re-election of Governor Hughes. The sporting element in that State is very considerable, and it is putting forth superhuman efforts. There are Democratic predictions that Hughes will be defeated, but his chances are palpably better than they were two years ago, when he was elected over W. R. Hearst as the only successful Republican on the ticket. But however this may be, it is not believed by anybody that the State will go for Bryan. It is possible to see how Tammany, embodying so largely the sporting element, might turn against Hughes, but the same reasoning does not apply to the national ticket. Tammany never had any use for Bryan, and Senator McCarren of Brooklyn, having been thrown out of the Denver convention and denounced, can hardly be setting up of nights to devise ways to win votes to the Democratic standard bearer. The great business class of the Empire State more acutely realizes where the welfare of the country lies than the corresponding class of any other State, and altogether it is not seen where any influence is exerting or can exert a power that would land the electoral vote in the Democratic column.

The Ohio situation, whatever it may be, is due to the Foraker ructions. The noted Senator is out of it now, but he has been a very influential man. He has had a great following, and it remains to be seen how much of this will see its way to contribute to the defeat of its party to realize ends of revenge. Senator Foraker's agitation of the Brownsville affair was out of whole cloth, for the mere sake of embarrassing the administration. Mr. Bryan's supporters hope it has been successful to the extent of alienating the colored vote from the Republican party, for that vote is quite considerable in Ohio. But it would be such an unnatural thing for the negro to turn to the Democratic party it is not deserving of credence anywhere.

Probably Vice-President Fairbanks is responsible for the situation in Indiana, if there is a "situation" there. He had his heart set on the Presidential nomination, and as far as could be judged from this distance, his State heartily approved his ambition. But he hadn't a real chance. When that was made manifest he took it too much at heart, secluded himself in his tent and the subsequent proceedings have failed to interest him. As we in California might say, he "paraded." It is assumed by the Democratic generals that the Republicans of Indiana are standing about the portal of their disgruntled chief in deep sympathy—so much so that they are indifferent to the inroads of the enemy. This is undoubtedly error. It is not conceivable that the great body of Republicans in the Hoosier State, even if they be sore, are susceptible to any political blandishment such as is afforded by the Taggarts and other leaders.

Undoubtedly all three of these great States are safely Republican; but the national campaign forces having little or nothing to do, might as well take them in hand and make assurance doubly sure.

A one-armed Alameda magistrate set at liberty a one-armed prisoner under arrest for "licking" a two-armed man. It was a case of "arms and the man," apparently.

"A LITTLE DISFIGURED, BUT STILL IN THE RING."

A dispatch is to the effect that a Tyrannosaurus Rex has been discovered in Montana. It is possible the State will now be more confidently put down in the Democratic column than ever. Rex means king, and the hosts of Bryan are down on both octopi and crowned heads. It is feared they may not take account of the fact that this monarch ran the State prior to its discovery by Republicans.

Vice-President Fairbanks' political stature has shrunk some through his passiveness in what some people regard as a political emergency. He is quiescent while his state is considerably regarded as in doubt. Considering the honors he has enjoyed at the hands of his party, his attitude is too much like that of the ex-Governor of California to impress the man who admires whole-heartedness.

The open season of the political rookback is rapidly approaching. Two or three days before November 3d look out for the fulmination against Republican candidates timed to leave no opportunity for refutation.

His name gets printed in the reports as "Baby John," but it is about as appropriate as "Angel Mother" would be if applied to the other character in the case. John is a man and the other is not yet an angel.

The modern Pecksniff is smug and somewhat belligerent. Further contrast is afforded in the fact that he controls a big newspaper. But he has the same trick of setting himself up as superior.

Richmond Pearson Hobson was detailed by the Democratic managers to speak in San Francisco, but has apparently lost his way. At least he hasn't shown up.

WARNS COUNTRY AGAINST PROPOSED TARIFF CHANGE

EDITOR TRIBUNE—The revenue system of a country intimately affects every interest of the people. A tariff infringes upon everything from wages to profits. It is profoundly associated with bank and business credits, and is intertwined with the profits of production and exchange. It is apparent then, that changes in a tariff go to the vitality of all business. They compel a re-adjustment during which uncertainty taints every activity. This is especially the case when such changes are threatened by novices and theorists.

NO DEMOCRATIC EXPERTS.

When the Democratic party was in existence it had a small guild of tariff experts in Congress. Mr. Wilson, Mr. and Wilson represented the tariff-for-revenue-only section of the party, and Samuel J. Randall, the protectionists. But these men have passed. Wilson is dead, slain by the expenditure of his mighty energy in the attempt to make a new tariff. Randall is dead. Mills and Morrison are in permanent retirement. The tariff party has retained no tariff experts. It has no one in Congress and none to put there. It is a mere opposition to what is. Its proposed change in the tariff is destructive and not constructive. Does anyone hope that it can succeed where Wilson failed?

TIME FOR WARNING.

It is time to warn the country against trusting Bryan in the White House and his party in Congress to make a tariff. Their result would inevitably be a profound and prolonged paralysis of business. Free traders and revenue tariff men alike should oppose a tariff, such as the Bryan party proposes. Mr. Taft talks wisely to the South when he advises that section to throw its vote where its material interests lie. The industries and credits of the South are not sectional. They partake of a national prosperity and they share national disaster.

TO INVITE RUIN.

It is unthinkable that the South should continue to not only risk but invite ruin by again giving its solid support to Mr. Bryan. Granting all of his theatrical charms of style, and his rank as a public entertainer, a comparison of his quality with Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Polk and the Southern statesmen who have passed into history should make it plain that the Southern standard of public men has declined, if the voters of that section support him for

HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING
AFTERNOON

Miss Blanche Toimie has arrived on the coast and will be the guest of her brother, Robert Toimie, for the winter. Miss Toimie is a very attractive girl and has many warm friends in the Bay cities. She is the possessor of a very beautiful voice and has had the advantage of a continental education. At the recent wedding of Miss Emma Smith and Charles J. Smith, she charmed all with her exquisite songs. Miss Toimie's home is in Buffalo and her many friends here are delighted that she has decided to spend the winter here. Mrs. Charles Warfield, a sister of Miss Toimie, will entertain quite extensively this winter, when an opportunity will be given to her sister, who returned this spring from a three years' sojourn in the European capitals.

A HOLLAND DAY.
Those who were present at the meeting of the Oakland Club this afternoon were amply repaid for their efforts. Mrs. Hugh Hogen gave a most entertaining talk on her trip through Holland. Her talk was illustrated with souvenirs which she had brought from the interesting country.

Miss Grace Kilwell, accompanied by Miss Rena Burnham, sang some very delightful songs, and Miss Katherine Webster accompanied by Miss Nichols added much to the enjoyment of the occasion with her violin numbers. The pretty floral contributions were arranged by Mrs. E. K. Forester, who always superintends that part of the entertainment. The reception committee included Mrs. O. C. Voss, Mrs. F. H. Dorsaz, Mrs. Ira Crawford, Mrs. E. F. Cole, Mrs. R. W. Baker Jr., Mrs. E. H. Forester, Mrs. E. F. Mikel, Mrs. M. T. Brown, Mrs. Henry East, Mrs. Edward Hoffman, Mrs. E. C. Stoddard and Mrs. Frank Merguire.

Covers were laid for Miss Edna Lehnhardt, Miss Frances Williamson, Miss Clara Francke, Miss Mary Engelhardt, Miss Adele Ehrenberg, Miss Ann Engelhardt, Elizabeth Fitzgerald, Miss Antonina Sundell and Mrs. Robert Vallette. The table and dining room were very attractive with their decorations of pink and white.

During the afternoon hours a large number of friends of the hostess called and enjoyed a social chat and cup of tea. The living and reception rooms were again with an artistic combination of flowers of yellow and white.

MARRIAGE A SURPRISE.
The marriage of Mrs. Agnes Lehnhardt and Henry Lehnhardt was solemnized at Napa on October 8. Mr. and Mrs. Lehnhardt have returned from their honeymoon tour and are at home at 1132 Santa Fe avenue, where the bride has lived for many years. The marriage service was read by Justice George H. Glidder and the wedding attendants were Mrs. Louisa Selde of Vallejo and County Clerk M. W. Collins of Napa.

Lehnhardt is engaged in the insurance business in this city and is a prominent member of Oakland Lodge of Elks.

The wedding came as a pleasant surprise to their many friends.

CHARMING HOSTESS.
Mrs. Percy J. Walker of 1133 Fifth avenue will be the hostess at a luncheon and bridge party in honor of Miss Blanche Layman, the much loved bride-to-be of Leslie Rice. A dozen friends have been included in the guest list. Mrs. Walker will entertain tomorrow evening at a dinner when Mr. and Mrs. Frank Duquette will be the specially honored guests. After the dinner the guests will attend one of the local theaters.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker have recently returned from a delightful tour of the continent which they covered by automobile.

LUNCHEON HOSTESS.
Mrs. Charles A. Peterson of Santa Clara avenue, Alameda, entertained a party of friends last week at a pretty appointed luncheon at the attractive Piedmont Clubhouse. This unique house is a most charming place in which to entertain ones friends, and is becoming quite the favorite place to give a luncheon and card party. There is so much to attract the visitor and everything is made so simple for the hostess that it is no surprise that scarcely a day passes without two or

How to Wash Out Glass.

It is best to use a wooden tub for washing out glass, but if one is not at hand, use the metal dish sink with soiled glass, wash towels or any soft pieces of cotton, wash the glass in warm suds, made by dissolving a teaspoonful of Gold Dust washing powder in a pan of warm water; use a soft brush to clean the surface, then use the water of the same temperature. After the glass has been carefully dried on a glass linen, use a camel's hair brush to polish the cut surface. To clean the inside of water bottles, insert a very thin glass linen towel and force to all parts of the bottle with a wire holder that can be purchased at any five-cent counter.

NOMINEE LOSES HIS NAVY YARD POSITION

VALLEJO, Oct. 21.—R. O. Pierce, Republican candidate for Supervisor from the First district of Solano County, was yesterday discharged from the Mare Island navy yard, where he has been employed for years, on account of his political activity. He received a letter from the Secretary of the Navy stating that his services were no longer required, as the Civil Service Commission would not permit a violation of its ruling. This brings to a close a case which has been pending for two months and as a result of which organized labor is waging a hard fight for the revocation of the order. As a result, his election is now practically assured.

'EASY TO FALL THROUGH ROOF'
Aeronauts Drop From Sky Faster Than Sand-Bags They Toss Out.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—A. Holland Forbes and August Post, the two American aeronauts who fell 2,900 feet in the balloon "Conqueror" at Berlin recently, have arrived from Germany.

"When we saw that a big lateral rip had been made in the balloon below the middle we realized that we were in great peril," said Post. "Forbes and I commenced to throw out the ballast as rapidly as possible, but the balloon descended more rapidly toward the earth than the sand."

"When the balloon was within a short distance of the ground it began to drop more slowly and that gave the falling sand bags a chance to go ahead of us. The opening of the balloon like a parachute saved our lives."

"The women who lived in the bedroom that we so unconsciously entered through the roof, wrote two days afterward apologizing for not being at home when we called. It is surprising how easy it is to go comfortably through the roof of a model dwelling if one only carries sufficient impetus and weight."

KIT CARSON'S NIECE DEAD.

SANTA ROSA, Oct. 21.—Mrs. Adeline Atkinson, a niece of Kit Carson, the famous scout, died after a few days' illness following a visit to her grandson, J. W. West, at Chico. She was a great-grandmother, and leaves a large family connection. Another great-grandmother died near Glen Ellen yesterday. She was Mrs. Susan M. Smith, who a few days ago celebrated the sixty-eighth anniversary of her wedding day. Her husband, three daughters, twenty-two grandchildren, twenty-two great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild survive her.

MISS ELKINS TO BE DUKE'S BRIDE

King of Italy Has Given Consent and Will Make Splendid Present.

ROME, Oct. 21.—All doubts regarding the Elkins-Abuzzi marriage are now set at rest. The correspondent has the highest authority for the following statements, which the royal family desires to have published in the United States: The King officially has given his consent to the marriage in order to prevent opposition from other members of the family, the Duke of Abruzzi's stepmother, the Duchess of Abruzzi, has formally announced to the Mayor of Asti that the marriage in imminent. The Duke himself will soon go to the United States, where he expects the marriage will be officially announced at once.

Miss Elkins will enjoy full royal honors with the rank of colonel of the blood, and any disposition on the part of members of the court circle to receive the American Duchess coolly will be frowned on by the King himself. It was decided that the marriage should take place in Baltimore, Cardinal Gibbons to officiate.

King Victor Emmanuel's present to his bride, according to the same source, will be a diamond tiara valued at $100,000.

DELAYED FIGHT TO BE RESUMED

Contest for Voorman Millions Will Start Again After Being Postponed Twelve Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—After surviving twelve postponements, the suit begun by Mrs. Mary Voorman to have the $1,000,000 estate of her late husband, John Voorman, divided between her and her two sons, will start again today in Judge Moran's court.

The plaintiff, whose maiden name was Inman, married Harry Voorman in 1868, and when she was married she was a widow. She was appointed her guardian. He acted in that capacity for twenty-one years, and during that period failed to make any report on the condition of the estate. Upon Voorman's death, a few years ago, this property and his own, amounting to between one and two millions, was turned over to the Voorman company. The company then issued shares of stock to the value of the estate.

During the last forty years the value of the property has increased many times by investments and business ventures, and as there are no papers to show whose money had exploited the transactions, the case presents a complex question. The case was first brought to court in 1879, some of Mrs. Voorman's property was in her husband's name adds to the problem and the difficulty of solving it.

The children and grandchildren involved in the suit are: Anna Laura Ida Louise and Henry A. Voorman, Viola V. Willett, Allen A. Tilden, Henrietta Badeline and Henry V. Du Bois.

A Healthy Family.
"Our whole family has enjoyed good health since we began using Dr. King's New Life Pills, three years ago," says L. A. Bartlett of Rural Route 1, Guilford, Maine. "They cleanse and tone the system in a gentle way that does you good, 25¢ at all drug stores."

FILES MANDAMUS SUIT.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—City Justice A. L. Stephens, who is a candidate for a Superior Judgeship on the Democratic ticket, has filed a mandamus suit to compel the county clerk to remove from the official ballots the words "Vote for four," claiming this to be a violation of the election laws. He will secure a decision from the Supreme Court, he says, and should the words be removed from the ballot, as there is not time now to secure new ballots before the election.

LEFT ON HER DOORSTEP FOR THIS MOTHER.
Mrs. A. G. Tison, of Livermore, Cal., writes: "I picked up from my doorstep one day a little book in which I soon became very much interested. My little girl of five years of age had been troubled for a long time with loss of appetite, extreme nervousness and undue fatigue. She was all run-down and in a very delicate condition. This little book was very comprehensively written, and told of the new method of extracting the medicinal elements of the cod's liver from the oil, eliminating the obnoxious oil which is so hard for children to take."

"Just the thing," said I, "for my little daughter," and I immediately went for a bottle of Vinol. It helped her wonderfully. She has gained rapidly in flesh and strength, and she does not take cold half so easily."

"I am extremely grateful for the good it has done her, and I hope other mothers who have weak, delicate or ailing children will be benefited by my experience and just give Vinol a trial."

VINOL is sold in Oakland by The Owl Drug Co.

Mme. Gadski Scorns Hoodoo Looking-Glass to a Friend

BUT WOULDN'T GIVE

(By ETHEL LLOYD PATTERSON)

Friday the 13th holds no terrors for Mme. Johanna Gadski, the Metropolitan Opera Company soprano. This is because Mme. Gadski is positively—not superstitious. To be sure, she does find opals unlucky, and she would not give a friend a looking-glass or a knife. Then, too, she has an unaccountable prejudice against returning to a room for a forgotten article. And, of course, everybody dislikes to have good luck wished to them at the beginning of an enterprise. But these are not superstitious. Absolutely not! Mme. Gadski herself designates them as a "sort of feeling."

After hearing that Mme. Gadski had refused to lend from the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse on the 13th day of the month, I was considerably amused to find her enjoying an apartment, No. 111, on the thirteenth floor of the St. Regis, and looking both happy and healthy.

NOT A BIT SUPERSTITIOUS.

"No, I am not superstitious—not a particle—about anything," she declared. "I would have landed without hesitation on the 13th of the month if Signor Campanini's feelings upon the subject had not been so strong. Of course, a number of us stayed on board the ship in deference to his prejudice. As far as I personally am concerned I would like to have landed on the 13th. My first appearance in America was on a Friday the 13th, and I have been so fortunate and so happy here. How, then, could I be afraid of it?"

"And you have none of those little feminine misgivings about intangible 'something's'?" It would not, for instance, worry you to break a looking-glass?"

"Not in the least," Mme. Gadski replied. "I would not care how many I broke. Of course," she added slowly, "I would not care to present a looking-glass to a friend."

"Why?"

BUT THEY DO SAY—

"They do say," replied Mme. Gadski, hesitatingly, "that to give either a looking-glass or a penknife breaks friendship."

"And opals, are you fond of them?"

"Very—indeed I am," she declared enthusiastically. "I have an exquisite three-stone opal ring. But do you know," lowering her voice, "it is the most peculiar thing about that ring. I am always losing it or mislaying it. But if there is one thing I am not superstitious about, it is opals."

"I must admit that I have a sort of feeling against returning to a room for an article I have forgotten. I am not superstitious about it—I just have that feeling."

"Have you ever, in such a case, tried sitting perfectly still in a chair and counting twelve before you start out again?"

"No," said the singer, much interested, apparently. "What does that do?"

"Breaks the spell."

"Ah!" said the non-superstitious one. "I am glad to know that."

Just then a plump white young face, topped with a mop of spun gold, made its appearance at the doorway.

"My husband's first wife's daughter," Mme. Gadski informed me solemnly. Then her anxiety gave way and she laughed.

"Lotta is getting so big that I am ashamed to own her as my child, so I think I will have to say she is the daughter of my husband's first wife, isn't that a good idea?" She is, you know, for my husband has only been married once."

I laughed with her as we walked toward the door, but stepped carefully so as not to trip over a rug. If you do that you know, she says you won't be married that year.

Cupid's Darts Hit Royal Balkan Women Fear Their Downfall

The Status of Wives of Rulers Is Threatened by the Gathering War Clouds

Princess Nicholas, Wife of Montenegro's Ruler

WOMEN OF THE BALKANS.

The new Czarina of Bulgaria, the wife of the ruler of that kingdom, is following the exciting events in Eastern Europe with the deepest interest, for upon the outcome depends their position in the royal family of Europe.

Princess Helen of Serbia is the daughter of King Peter, and because of the death of her mother she has presided at all state functions in Serbia. Now the position of King Peter is threatened by the insistent demand for war against Austria by the Serbian people, and the King is in a predicament. Unless he can stop the clamor he is likely to be deposed, and his daughter will lose her position. If he does go to war with Austria he is almost certain to be defeated and his state swallowed by Francis Joseph.

The wife of Montenegro's ruler is in almost as serious a position. Austria, by the seizure of Bosnia and Herzegovina, comes down to the frontier of Montenegro, and at the first sign of an outbreak the Princess of Montenegro is apt to find herself out of a job.

Divorced 6 Times Will Wed Fifth Husband Again

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Vice Chancellor Howell heard an extraordinary story in the New Jersey Chancery Court in Newark yesterday, when there was returned an order to show cause why Albert Meyer, of South Orange, should not have the custody of his daughter, Margaret B. Meyer, seven years old. Coupled with the proceedings is a suit for divorce brought by Meyer against Elora H. Meyer. (You see for Mrs. Meyer pleaded that he was not ready to go on and the case was set down for Thursday and Friday.)

Mrs. Meyer is the manager of the sales department of a New York cement company. On September 2, 1898, he was married to Miss Elora Howard. In 1901, Charles New York, and they lived happily until November, 1904. In that month, while he was in the West, his petition sets forth, his wife wrote him that William R. Jamison, who was once her fiance, was in New York and that she had invited him to call on her at their home, No. 561 West One-hundred and sixteenth street.

When Mr. Meyer returned from the West he became suspicious and the alleged his wife at last said to him in regard to Jamison:

"I love him with all my heart and soul."

Mr. Meyer's petition next recites that Mrs. Meyer went to Europe in May, 1907, and remained abroad until September. She went abroad again on December 3 and remained until August 18, 1908. When she returned she went to live in her brother's home, in New York. Ten days ago she appeared at the Meyer home in South Orange, where Mr. Meyer had left the daughter with his mother and sister, and announced she was there to stay.

After a stormy scene Mrs. Meyer left her home and remained for several days with a Miss Golding. There was a reconciliation, and when Mr. Meyer wrote to Jamison threatening to go to Mexico to get personal satisfaction he received a reply that Jamison would cease all communication with Mrs. Meyer.

TRAINED NURSES IN GENERAL REVOLT

Because they were ordered to polish the door knobs these trained nurses at the Essex county, New Jersey, hospital, at Belleville, New Jersey, resigned in a huff yesterday. They were Miss Eva Brady, Miss Harriet Underwood and Miss Edith Kenny.

Dr. Henry M. Ricketts, the superintendent, had to hustle to fill their places in time to take care of the first two patients who arrived at the institution. He said last night it was true the nurses had been asked to scrub door knobs and scour beds, and admit that in the struggle to get things tidy for the public reception the ambulance drivers had been converted into window washers. "We all pitched in," he said.

Miss Brady said the hospital had been too shy of help, there having been only one scrubwoman for the whole place, who, Miss Brady declared, had broken down under the strain and had become one of the first two patients.

"The scrubwoman wasn't feeling well when he hired her," it was said at the hospital last night.

Stole Letters His Wife Wrote to Man

Abstracting letters from another man's letter box, even though you suspect the other man of being an affluence of your own, is nevertheless a pretty serious offense. Samuel S. Strauss, a butcher of No. 100 Madison avenue, Chicago, found out in the Missouri Court.

Despite the unique plea Strauss was held for trial in $500 bonds.
